Q39. Which of the following would you say concerns you most about being dependent on foreign energy?	We can get drawn into wars and conflicts overseas	8%	13%
	Prices can go up because oil and gas producers have a monopoly and can drive up oil costs whenever they want	23%	28%
	The people we're buying foreign energy from don't share our values and commit human rights abuses	9%	9%
	Money spent on foreign energy may inadvertently support terrorism or other activities against American interests, making us less safe	16%	11%
	Over-reliance on foreign energy sources strips the US of our autonomy and makes us reliant on other countries	37%	30%
	Don't know	7%	8%

Here is a statement a candidate for office might make.

It's essential that we end our reliance on foreign oil so we don't depend on overseas dictators who can manipulate prices whenever they want. With US oil and natural gas production currently at an all-time high, we have a unique opportunity to push energy independence even further by investing in clean energy. This is a vital step, not just for the environmental benefits, but also because making more energy of any kind in America makes us stronger.

Q40. Would you be very likely to support a candidate who makes this statement, somewhat likely, not too likely, or not at all likely to support a candidate who makes this statement? [SPLIT A]	Very likely	37%	32%
	Somewhat likely	32%	36%
	Not too likely	12%	13%

Here is a response that another candidate might make to the statement you just read.

Ending our reliance on foreign fuel and achieving American energy independence needs to be a top priority. That means we have to focus on increasing our oil and natural gas production even further - rejecting policies like closing key oil pipelines and cutting back offshore drilling that drive our energy prices up and weaken America. Investing in clean energy right now is a distraction.

U.S. oil and natural gas production are currently at record levels. We can produce huge amounts of oil and gas and embrace clean energy at the same time - it's not either or. Embracing American-made clean energy is a necessary part of our effort to achieve energy independence - whether you're for the environmental benefits or not, making more energy of any kind in America makes us stronger.

[HEALTH] Here is a statement Democrats might make about the United States adding clean energy and making its supply chains here.

Clean energy sources like wind and solar will give us cleaner air to breathe and water to drink and reduce dangerous and expensive health problems like cancer and asthma. We owe it to our kids and grandkids to protect their health and their futures.

Q49. Do you find this a very convincing reason for the U.S. to invest in clean energy, a somewhat convincing reason, not too convincing, or not at all convincing as a reason for the U.S. to invest in clean energy?	Very Convincing	28%	35%
	Somewhat Convincing	30%	32%
	Not too convincing	16%	12%
	Not at all convincing	19%	14%
