The United States is at risk of defaulting on its debt as soon as December 15, 2021.

If Republican brinksmanship forces the United States to default on its debt, it will have wide-ranging consequences on the US economy.